Exhibitor ROI is a major challenge

68% of exhibitors say budget pressure is their biggest challenge, while 43% of exhibitors have difficulty demonstrating value/ROI. These two challenges are linked, requiring organizers to deliver and demonstrate greater return for exhibitors.

What challenges, if any, are you facing over the next three years as an exhibitor within your own organization? Explori 2023

Introducing ROI Reports:

Prove the value of your event to exhibitors. Track, measure and benchmark their performance for multiple, year-on-year events

What's included

- 4 reports with 50+ graphs each for every element of sponsor, exhibitor, pavilion, and multi-event companies at your event
- Predict company success ahead of the event
- Benchmark companies within your event
- Compare companies across multiple events and how their performance has changed

...and so much more!

Overview

Track company activation, meetings, badge scans and the matchmaking opportunity for the event as a whole and per company in one report.

Company

Predict, track, benchmark and evaluate the ROI of a company that has sponsored or exhibited at your event.

Pavilion

Roll up multiple companies into one 'pavilion' and understand which ones performed the best.

Multi-Event

Measure the performance of a company across multiple events to understand their event-on-event success.

Track success in one place throughout the event lifecycle

Activation

Track how many exhibitors have been activated and how the activation rate compares to the event benchmark.

Track activation over time.

Meetings

See which companies have created, accepted and/or not responded to meetings. Then prompt them about their missed opportunities.

Networking mix

Identify attendee demographics, understand the gap in comparison to exhibitor objective, and correct before your event even begins.

Lead retrieval

In real-time, see the number of badge scans and lead scores across all exhibitors and drill-down into the detail immediately.

Valuable insights along the entire exhibitor journey

Analyze the relevance of your audience

Find out the number of companies offering and participants interested for each Custom Field Answer and the ratio of companies/participants.

Takeaway: Give your sales team actionable insight into what categories you could be selling more to based on data

Benchmark & measure every company

A complete report enabling you to understand the complete journey of a single exhibitor, from the number of relevant people that were present at the event all the way to the number of badges they scanned at the booth and the score assigned to them.

Takeaway: Review the actions a company took and how their activity compares to the benchmark.

Showcase the future opportunity

For companies to return, there is nothing more powerful than them having a great event and knowing that there is even more potential in the next year. With our ROI reporting, you're now able to back this up with data.

Takeaway: Sell the opportunity that was left on the table for next year to increase your rebook and revenue growth.

Compare success event-on-event

It doesn't just stop with one event, analyze a single company across multiple events to understand whether their engagement and the relevancy of the audience is growing or shrinking.

Takeaway: Predict exhibitor & sponsor churn and spot the companies that are increasingly successful at your event.

Grip Pulse

Grip Pulse takes demographics and interaction data and turns them into powerful insights for organisers to help improve, rebook, grow and optimize their events.

Go beyond the one-pager

Every sales team has the one-pager with some high-level generic demographics.

Now you can go far beyond that, showcasing the opportunity in a personalized way for each exhibitor based on their profile and objectives.

Matching participants with Exhibitor X on product categories

Meetings accepted Meetings accepted (benchmark) 15.93 157.34%

Track engagement

Benchmark exhibitor activity

Track how an exhibitor has engaged with the opportunities presented to them and how they compare to peers before and during your event. Play back to an exhibitor their level of outreach, the meetings they requested and the effort they made to take advantage of their involvement.

Quantify results

Assess ROI in real-time

Give your sales team real-time insight into the results of an exhibiting company at your event.

Use this insight to rebook, upsell and deliver suggestions for improvements that can be actioned the same day or in preparation for the next show.

Opportunity metrics

Audience

Quantify the number of participants at your event by participant type and other high-level audience impact metrics that your exhibitors value.

Geography

Showcase where in the world your participants are coming from to give exhibitors an idea of the diversity and impact of your event.

Demographics

Showcase your event participants based on custom segmentation such as sector, seniority, purchasing-power and any other data imported to Grip.

Profile matches

Highlight how many people matched with the exhibitor's profile to be able to accurately communicate the scope of opportunity they have at your event.

Engagement metrics

A great proxy for how active an exhibiting team have been on the platform, and if they were in high-demand from event participants.

Meetings

See whether an exhibitor actively requested meetings with participants and responded to all incoming meeting requests.

Networking

Lead retrieval

Find out if an exhibitor made the most of people that visited their booth and actively engaged in conversations to collect leads onsite.
